CUNGRATULATORY RESOLUTIONS OVER THE ADJOURNMENT OF THE 43D CONGRESS.—At 12 o'clock yester-day, Senator Shaw introduced resolutions expressive of the thanks of the good people of North Carolina, and all lovers of civil liberty, over the adjournment of the 431 Congress, which perform the work. See notice under Special City Items.

The Raleigh Light Infantry will drill this evening at the old Baptist Grove, and the company are expected to be promptly on hand, in fatigue dress at the hour specified.

Only six more days to purchase tickets for the Greensboro Gift Concert. This is the opportunity you will have to get your money back from the Louisville Lottery.

See and that our body politic has at this hour been every pour ment of the 431 Congress, which Congress has sought to destroy every principle of fealty to the Federal Government on the part of the Southern people. In support of these resolutions (which will be found in our Senate report,) Mr. Shaw said:

Mr. President:—I do not offer these resolutions as being the mere off-spring of an idle fancy; but, sir, when I look back over the past ten years of our political history, and see my countrymen gauling under the yoke of oppression; when day after day the found in our Senate report, Mr. Shaw said:

Already the sunlight of liberty is piercing the misty gloom that overshadows us, and in the morn of another century North Carolina, together with her fellow American citizens, may yet be happy and free. I trust the resolutions will be adopted."

> THE FARMER'S LOSS .- We overheard a conversation yesterday between a prominent tobacco manufacturer and farmer, in regard to a tobacco trade then and there pending. The farmer had a sample of bright golden coal cured tobacco that he offered to the manufacturer for $90. The manufacturer said, "I would have given you that for it three days ago, but since the passage of the Congression-el tax bill, I can't pay more than At this point we edged in a word to inquire why it was that the producer should suffer the loss, why not the consumer? The answer was, that in all such cases the effect was first on the raw material. For instance, said the manufacturer, (who is by the way a Hillsborough man,) in my town tobacco fell $3 on the hundred the day the NEWS announce ed the passage of the usury bill. has never recovered from this shock. but it followed by another almost as calamitous. And, all the evil effects of such legislation falls first on the farmer. We don't blame them for organizing as Grangers or anything else. It is certain if they fail to help themselves, they may look in vain for help elsewhere.

AN IMPORTANT ACT.—A few days since Mr. Graham, of Llucoln, introluced in the Senate a bill concerning the evidence in cases of fraud where the State is concerned, which passed its third reading and isnow before the House for action. Thebill being one of importance, we append it entire "The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact, That in cases where fraud upon the State is charged it shall not be a sufficient cause to excuse any one from imparting any evidence or information legally required of him because he came into the possession of such evidence or in-formation by his position as counsel or attorney before the consummation of such fraud; and any person refusing for such cause to answer any question when legally required so to do shall be deemed guilty of contempt and punished at the discretion of the Court or other body demand-ing such information. Provided, however, it shall not be competent to introduce any admissions thus made on trial of any person making the same in any Court of this State.'

ANOTHER LOSS PAID.-Major J. M. Tate, Secretary of the North Carolina Department of the Life As-Carolina Department of the Life Association of America, paid on the 22nd of February, to Mrs. Emily Barrington, of Pamlico county, $1,-763,00, being the amount due on policy on her husband's life, who died in November. The policy was for $1,500 and the $263 was additional temporary insurance, in lieu of cash dividend for the present year. dividend for the present year. The policy was issued in June, 1872, and $111.50 in premiums had been paid, hence the net gain resulting to Mrs. Barrington, from her late husband's prudence was $1,651.50. Go and do likewise—we mean insure, but do not die if you can help it.

OUR YOUNG MEMBERS AGAIN.—says the Greensboro Patriot: "Decidedly the ablest speech that has been made in the General Assembly this session was that of Mr. Staples on the usury question." A correspondent of the Newbern A correspondent of the Newbern Nutshell says: "Permit me to state that the people of Craven county will ever recognize the obligation they are under to Mr. M. H. Pinnix, the energetic and talented Representative from Davidson. Mr. Pinnix has evinced much sympathy for us in our lamentable condition, and has, by word and act, greatly bene-

HARD LUCK.—A western member that voted for the Usury Bill to please his constituents, went home last week and found only two men in his tweek and found only two men in his county that endorsed his vote, and he said the wail of indignation even re echoed from the mountain sides. We would advise him to rise to a question of personal privilege this morning, as atonement in part, then vote for the supplemental Senate bill when it comes before the House to make the stonement complete. to make the atonement complete.

IMPORTANT SALE OF LAND .- On the 6th day of March there will be sold at the court house door in this city, a valuable tract of land, the property of Mrs. John H. Bryan. Terms, one-half cash, balance on 12 months' time. This is a fine opportunity for investment. . It is only 4 miles from the city and will timbered.

E. R. STAMPS, Esq.—The gentle-man whose name heads this article, having relinquished the tripod, a position in which he reflected no little credit to North Carolina jour-nalism, has located in this city to prosecute his profession, the law. See advertisement elsewhere in today's paper.

Terrible Accident At Old Point. On Monday morning last at 10 1-2 o'clock Mrs. Curry, the amiable wife of Col. James Curry, United States Army, stationed at Fortress Monroe, informed her husband that she intended to visit the cemetery that morning to decorate the grave child. Her husband told her to have the carriage ordered and go around the nearest way, which was across Mill Creek. She accordingly ordered a small skiff, and took her little daughter Lena, aged 8 years, into the boat with her. They seated themselves in the stern and before they had gotten half way across the creek, a rough wave tilted the boat and threw little Lena overboard. In her hasty efforts to save her child, Mrs. Curry leaned forward and overturned the craft, and both mother and daughter were drowned! The negro who was managing the boat at the time was unable to render them any assistance, for he only saved himself by seizing and clinging to an oyster stake near by which kept him above water until he was rescued.

Mrs. Curry was loved by all who keew her, and her little daughter was the pet of the household. Their uutimely death has cast a gloom over the entire community in which they lived and will be sincerely deplored by all who heare of the unfotunate

the following resolution:
"Whereas, The term of the FortyThird Congress of the United States Third Congress of the United States expires with this hour. And whereas a large majority of said Congress being unmindful of the trusts imposed in it by a free people, and have heaped burdens and insults upon them unprecedented in the annals of history, and with an unmitigated hatred to the Southern portion of this Union, have converted the "Halle of Congress" into a "Star "Halls of Congress" into a "Star Chamber" of oppression; "Therefore, be it Resolved, by the Senate of North Carolina, that we hail with joy this the hour of our de-liverance, and extend our congratulations to the whole people of these United States upon this happy dawn of a better day." This resolution created a warm discussion, and resulted in quite a number of motions to postpone and table, Mr. Morehead introduced the fol-"That the Senate of North Carolina congratulates the people of the United States, and all lovers of civil liberty, that the hour has arrived at which the 43d Congress expires."

Mr. Mills moved to table the whole matter. Tabled. Mr. Morehead's substitute was lost by a vote of 16 to 29. The resolutions of Mr. Shaw were then adopted by the following vote:

Affirmative.—Mr. President, Messrs.

Anderson, Bell, Busbee, French, Graham, Jenkins, Jernigan, Kerr, Lin-

whole matter till Saturday next. This motion was vehemently opposed by the supporters of Mr. Tate's bill, and the motion was rejected.

Mr. Tate then stated his reasons for offering the amendments to the the substitute, which were for the protection of the private stockholders of the road in the event of the adoption of the substitute. He hoped there would be no necessity for urging the adoption, believing that the substitute would not pass.

Mr. Pinnix favored the original bill, as he thought the substitute a gigantic scheme, embracing legal complications that would prove detrimental to the road.

gigantic scheme, embracing legal complications that would prove detrimental to the road.

Mr. Patton argued in favor of the original bill.

Mr. Staples, at considerable length, opposed the Tate bill, arguing that its provisions were in no wise feasible, as its first proposition was to purchase the road by the State without any machinery to raise funds for this purpose. Again, it proposed to pay the interest on its bonds from half of the earnings of this road, the other half to be applied to the completion of the road to its proposed terminis. He proposed to show that in 10 years the road would be more embarrassed than it is now, and not a single foot of work performed towards its completion, by such legislation. He was clearly of the opinion that the only plan to relieve the road from its present financial embarrassement was an appeal to the Supresse Great which sent financial embarrassment was an appeal to the Supreme Court, which with the substitute guarded by the amendments proposed by himself would effect the desired object of completing this great work and rendering it available to the State. Mr. McRae replied to the argument of Mr. Staples, and spoke mainly to the merits of the amendment offered by himself, which as heretofore stated, is characterized by Mr. Gudger as the Smith clause of the consolidation act.

Mr. Mendenhall was loth to take issue with his colleague on matters of importance before the General Assembly, but after careful consideration of the subject he was convinced of the fact that there was merit in the Tate bill and would support it.

Mr. Moring warmly advocated the Tate bill, and argued at some length the various provisions therein in contrast with those of the substitute.

Mr. Robinson (Mr. Walker, of Richmond, in the Chair) had examined both bills now before the House with care, and while he was willing to accord merit to each, yethe thought to accord merit to each, yet he thought the Tate bill would save the property to the State, and the substitute would not; he would therefore support the original bill. Mr. Staples in announcing his preference for the sub-stitute gives no assurance that he will support even the substitute un-less his amendments are incorpora-ted, &c. The gentleman from Guil-ford, he said, also faintly suggests that an appeal to the Supreme Court would relieve the road of its embar-rassment. If he remembered aright, a resolution was now before the Committee on Railroads providing for the taking of this appeal to the Supreme Court. Mr. Staples (interrupting.) The resolution was introduced, and is now sleeping in the hands of the

Mr. Robinson-"I have information that the resolution has been carefully considered by the Committee, and have had Major Smith before them, and they are satisfied that the appeal will not be to the interest of the State."

Mr. Candler said he was willing to wi'hdraw his bill as a substitute for Mr. Tate's, and would afterwards offer his as a seperate bill, and let it come up on its own merits. No objection being offered, he withdrew the substitute. Several unimportant amendments were accepted, after which Mr. Tate called the previous question, which being sustained, the vote was taken on the passage of the bill on its third reading, with the following result: Ayes.—Barnhardt, of Caldwell, Barrett, Bettis, Bizzell, Blythe, Bryan, Bryson, Candler, Davis of Haywood, Bryson, Candler, Davis of Haywood, Davis of Jackson, Dortch, Erwin, Finger, Foote, Freeman, Gather, Garrison, Gash, Glenn, Green, Hanner, Harrison, Hicks, Hurley, Isler, Jessup, Johnston, Jones, King, Martin, McCalop, McCubbins, McIver, McNeil, MacRae, Mebane, Mendenhall, Mitchell, Mizzell, Mock, Mofitt Moring, Mosell, Newell, Nor-Moffit, Moring, Mosely, Newell, Norment, Oaksmith, Patton, Pinnix, Presson, Proffit, Reid, Richardson, Shackelford, Sharp, Smith of Anson,

Senate bill to amend an act entitled an act to charter the Carolina Narrow

Upon our third page will be found a capital article upon the Usury question, to which we invite the attention of the members of the Legislature.

THE Wilmington Journal urges impatiently the call of a Convention. Perhaps before this reaches him the question will have been answered. We have been one of those who have always urged the duty and policy of the movement, and who have unwillingly yielded to the reasons of others for delay. At the same time it was an indvidual opinion, arrayed against the opinions of men in every way entitled to respect, not only in judgment and experience, but in devotion to the best interests of the party. We have deferred to their wishes, knowing that nothing could be accomplished by haste or impatience-of the Journal on the subject. They are timely, and will have a good effect. OUR LIVING AND OUR DEAD For March is on our table, a most excellent number, and giving evidence by the extent and character of the contributions that the bright intellects of the State are at least aroused to the value of the undertaking. We regret to learn from the editorial remarks, that the people upon whom it is really dependent for its success are not so active to its importance, and that Our Living and Our Dead has not yet reached the paying point. This ought not so to be. There should be an eager appreciation of the only monument which will ever be erected to our DEAD, and the only medium through which the memories of the glorious deeds is likely to be authentically preserved, and a most valuable contribution to the history of the State collected by the patriotic labors of our LIVING.

"RELIGION IN POLITICS."

Under this very inappropriate title as applied to the subject under consideration, the New York Herald comments flippantly enough upon the expulsion of Thorne from the North Carolina House of Representatives. But flippancy in a iournal which is a "free lance" on every side and on every subject is so much in character that it was to be expected. With its ideas of theology, all distinction is effaced between the Sovereign Ruler of the Universe and the fabricated Mumbo Jumbo of the African coast, and it would recognize the one as readily as the other, according to the fashion of the times.

"North Carolina is a primitive country," in the words of the Herald. She has retained in some degree of purity ideas and doctrines that may have become obso lete in New York under the influence of the new philosophy. And it is to the preservation of these primitive ideas that she has escaped that surge of wickedness that has overwhelmed northern society. This "primitive" principle has a deep hold in the hearts and the minds of her primitive people and is the foundation of that character that has always commanded the respect, if it does sometimes provoke the sneers of people wiser and more liberal in their own estimation.

Thorne's politics had no connection with the question. Nor had his religious views, in any sense, except as involved in a plain and imperative constitutional requirement. If he did not come up to that, it only proves that he is not qualified for office. His right of private judgment as an individual is as free as before.

The Petersburg News expresses its surprise at the defence for the transaction made by the News. We make no defence. We justify it upon the clearly established disqualification. Whatever of intolerance may appear at a distance was the investigation. Such a purgation is not the subject of apology.

Palace cars now run over the Wil-its endeavor to soothe the white man of the South on the passage of the civil rights bill, does not give the colored man much solid comfort. It calls the bill a piece of legislative sentimentalism. "It gives no man any greater privilege than has always been conceded by intelligent people to those who behave themselves," &c. The bill was passed to secure the negro vote. Perhaps the old song again, "forty acres and a mule," which the negro has not got yet, and the Republican, in effect, tells him, he has not got much by his "civil rights."

A WEEK or ten days ago, we were shown a letter from Washington, in which great expectations were held out of the stand to be taken by Speaker Blaine against the Force Bill, and the President's Arkansas policy. Enough was foreshadowed to encourage the belief of an irreconcileable split between Blaine and Grant, a rupture of the party, and the defeat of the objectionable measures.

Well, the time has come and gone, the Force Bill has passed the House, Blaine did not lead in the opposition, and he and Grant are still friends. So much the worse for

The New York Sun throws some light on the subject. It says: "The court journal at the Capital announced Mr. Blaine as a visitor at the White House on Friday-the eve of the vote. Perhaps that conference with the President may have shed some new light upon his understanding and enabled him to see the question as it had not appeared before to his exalted intellect. Gen. Grant has a faculty of conquering prejudices, and the Speaker is a man open to conviction." A suggestive inuendo, this last.

THE closing of the career of the 43rd Congress is satisfactory at least in one point of view-it brings an end to uncertainty. We now know the worst, we know what it has done, and we can brace ourselves up to the results. There is an end of speculation, of doubts, of shadowy hopes. There is the fulfillment of prophecy and the refutation of assertion. There were many who believed that the condemnation of the Radical party in the election of last Fall would have taught Congress some moderation. It was thought that its members would not dare to return to their constituents burdened with the odium of a policy so emphatically denounced everywhere It was believed that they would have a prudent care for their own future, and leave a way easy for their return to political life. But sufficient allowance was not made for the intensity of bad passions, burning to leave an indellible mark of revenge for defeat; enough weight was not given to the strength of Presidential influences, and sufficient reflection was not bestowed upon the composition of a larger portion of that majority by which the infamies of the last days of the session were enacted. It appears that in the passage of the Force Bill through the House, out of one hundred and thirty-five Republicans who voted for the bill, ninety-six were defeated in the November election, and among these were all the carpet-baggers from the South. These men live politically only by these measures of repression. They devised them as the means of existence. They concocted all these deadly slanders against the South-slanders which found willing ears in the President and the administration.

We are therefore willing to exempt much of the North from the censure which must attach to these measures. That section can hardly be responsible for the enactment into laws of principles condemned in advance. It cannot well be held responsible for the blind rage or willful wickedness of representatives who were using the last remnants of a power entrusted to them for individual interests. And with the knowledge that the Northern press so vigorously and almost unanimously animadverts upon the deeds of the 43rd Congress, and that the people at the polls have pronounced their verdict upon it, we can accept the burden with more equanimity than if it was imposed by a common sentiment as a fitting addition to an already exorbitant measure of punishment. Laws that defy public opinion lose their force, laws that shape themselves to the temporary shifts of party lose their binding force, laws that discriminate with partial severity against one portion of a not apparent to those interested in common country, must lose the sanction of judicial support. There is enough, of encouragement in the calamities accumulated in the last week to give hope for the

THE Washington Republican in future. Even the passage of the infamous bills developed a friendly interest and a friendly opposition in unexpected quarters. We are justified, then, in counselling patience and forbearance, with the hope that the South after all will not be the only sufferer from the enactment of the Civil Rights bill, and consequently that the day of its repeal or the decision of its unconstitutionality, will not long be postponed.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS

We call the attention of farmers to our justly celebrated Wilson "Cotton" and "Universal" turn plow and claim it has no equal as a Cultivator and Turn Plow. The Cotton Plow saving fully ½ of the labor, doing the work better, leaving the land in better condition and being much easier to laborer and horse. The castings are made only from the best, new pig fron and last much longer than any other, in many cases two points only being required to make a full crop of cotton and corn. We give below a few of the many certificales from the best farmers of our country, who have fully tested them.

J. P. Edmonson, Johnston County, 8ay8:

The Cotton Plow saves fully ½ of the labor and is the only cast plow that will do the work. I prefer it to the wrought sweep. The "Universal" Plow is the best turn plow made.

Capt. Joe Young, Wake County, 8ays : Your "Wilson" Cotton and "Turn" Plows are the best castings I ever used and no farmer can afford to be without them.

Tom Bridgers, Wake County, says: I am satisfied after a through trial, your Cotton plow is the only cast plow made that is a through cultivator and is rs near perfection as can be. The "Universal" as a turn plow is in every way equal to the "Wait," and will not choke in any of our lands, and is lighter, thereby saving feel and stock.

Daniel Stewart, Harnett County, "I want no better plow, have used them for years and know them to be all you claim for them, every farmer ought to have them. I cannot farm without them.

Dr. Wilder, Wake County, says: "Your "Cetton Plow" is the best I ever used, and the "Turn" Plow can't be ex-celled I must have more of them."

James T. Leach, Jr., Johnston County, says: "The "Cultivator Plow" is the only plow use, is good as I want,"

Col. J, W. B. Watson, Raleigh, N. C., says :

"Send me six more of your "Universal" Plows, as a turn plow they are unequaled, and the Cotton Plow is the only cultivator I can use to any advantage with our pre-sent system of labor and the "grass,"

L. H. Sanders, Johnston County, "The best plow in the world." I use hem all through my crop, both corn and

H. H. Coats, Johnston county, says: "I save fully 1/3 of my plowing, and do the balance easier and better." I would buy them at any price,"

N. V. Denton, Raleigh, says: "I refused to buy your plow for a long time from prejudice to cast works, for cot-ton, but after a fair trial I think them the best plow made. I want six more."

We are the Sole Agents for the "Wilson Cotton and Turn Plow in Central N. C., and keep a full stock of plows and castings always on hand and sell them at manufacturers' prices. We also have in store a large and expected actives.

Office 82 South Street, Baltimore.

Soluble Ammoniated South Sea Guano. B. M. RHODES & CO.,

Analysis made by order of Prof. W. C. KERR, State Geologist of North Carolina, by Dr. F. A. GENTH, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Chemical Laboratory of the University of Pennsylvania. I have analyzed as follows:—"I Sample of "Soluble Ammoniated South Sea Guano, prepared for Cotton by B. M. RHODES & CO., $2 South Street, Baltimore, 182 lbs.," SOLUBLE PHOSPHORIC ACID, 432 " equivalent to 9.43 pr. ct. of Bone Phosphate of Lime Precipitated, " 7.16 " 15.63 " 15.63 " Ammonia.

MOISTURE,

ALKALINE SALTS, - 8.25 " Ammonia.

2—Sample of "Orchilla Guano, A.A., B. M. RHODES & CO, Importers' Agents, & outh Street, Baltimore, 167 lbs. Curacao," which I found to contain— PHOSPHORIC ACID. - 28 96 pr. ct., equivalent to 58 64 pr. ct. of Bone Phosphate of Lime Both samples were certified to having been taken, sealed and sent by Thos. HARRI Hodges, Notary Public, and were in perfect condition. F. A., GENTH.

Professors TONRY, LIEBIG and MALLET say of the Orchilla Guano The Orchilla, which seems to be an organic deposit, can be recommended to the farmer for use in its crude state, and after a careful and complete analysis, as well as a thorough examination of the mechanical condition, as well as from the testimony of several who have used it in its crude state, and have expressed to me their entire satisfaction. I feel perfectly justified in recommending the Orchilla. Prof. Anal. and App'ld Chemistry, Maryland Institute.

The Orchilla Guano, which is truly an organic deposit, deserves well the attention of the farmer, not only on account of the high grade of its Phosphates of Lime and Alkaline Salts, but more particularly for the physical condition and exture in which this Guano is presented.

G. A. LIEBIG, Ph. D.

This material decidedly recommends itself to the attention of farmers by its large proportion of Phosphoric Acid, being in a form to be much more easily taken up by growing plants than that of the harder and more compact Mineral Phosphates. Farmers can themselves very easily add Peruvian Guano, Cotton Seed, Mill Refuse or other material affording Nitrogen when it is desired to combine the effort of Ammoniacal with that of Phosphate Monrye. I am, gentlemen, respectfully yours, J. W. MALLET, Charlottsville, Va.

RALEIGH, N. C., January 29, 1875.

From the Analysis of Dr. Genth there is no doubt of the high per centage of Phosphate of Lime in this Guano, and I endorse the recommendations of Prof. Mallert upon the above testimony of himself and Prof. Lieng & Tonky as to its physical condition that it offers a desirable source of Phosphoric Acid to Cotton Farmers and others who have the means of furnishing the Nitrogenized matter at home.

W. C. KERE, FAISON'S DEPOT, N. C., December 14, 1874.

[For the Daily News. The Supplemental Usury Bill. To the Editors of the Daily News :

As you give wide-spread publicity o the speech of Mr. Staples, the prom-nent advocate of the Usury Bill, by ublishing it in full in your columns, where I have seen his arguments for the first time, I would beg of you the privilege to correct some gross errors which he has made, and which no doubt exercised considerable influence on those members of the Legisature who supported him, and which f corrected sooner might have made hem vote otherwise, or even now prospect is there of developing *

* * * so long as capitalists can lend their money from 12 to 30 and even 60 per cent. per annum," and again he says "that the rates of interest charged by the banks varies from 12 to 60 cent. more particularly at the latter rate in Eastern Carolina, I assert most positively that he can not name an instance in Eastern Carolina where such rates as 60 per cent. have been charged for years past, and on the contrary the writer knows that in all the Eastern banks of Newern, Wilmington, Goldsboro, Tarboro and Raleigh, the average rates do not exceed 13 per cent. and I would say farther that the rates of interest for money in all the Eastern sections have been getting lower year after year by the natural law of supply and demand, in proportion to the increase of banking capital and facilities. Mr. Staples talks about "money rusting and mouldering in vaults of banks;" by taking the trouble to examine the sworn statenents of the several banks, which re published every few months, he find that there is very litt oney allowed to remain on han d moulder. He says, "wheneved wherever money is unrestricted is impossible as a general rule is row it at a low rate of interest forgets here that money is virtual unrestricted (there being no for feiture of principal) in all the States of the Union except four, that it is entirely unrestricted in England and nearly everywhere on the Continent of Europe, and that it is from these "unrestricted" points that money flows at low rates to all parts of the world and more especially to our own country, where foreign capital has been building our railroads and other works of internal improvement; in England money is ordinarily worth from 4 to 5 per cent., but the rates vary several times a month according the supply and demand, and during the past few years has been at times as high as 10 per cent. the Bank of England invariably putting the rates up when money is flowing out of the country for the purpose of inducing its return, thus showing that capital will always seek the place where money is at high rates, and from the quantity that goes there always causing a reaction by making it cheap. Mr. Staples says, "one of the most flour-ishing and wealthy States of the Union has a stringent usury law." This must refer to New York, and with regard to that State I would say that there is great dissatisfaction and constant agitation with regard to the law every session of the Legislature, and now there has been a petition sent before that body signed by 4,000 leading merchants (all borrowers, recollect,) praying for its repeal. Mr. Staples says "the majority of the unrestricted States are comparatively depressed and crippled, and in those States where the free money law exists there is either great financial embarrassment or such wild confuion," &c. Does the gentleman really consider what he is saying when and, Illinois, Kansas, Georgia and mission our City s would l'exas, where there are virtually no sury laws, or in the growing States of Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, t Court, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Je'y, Penn. Vermont and Wisconsin, where in the majority of which only the excess, and in the re-mainder the whole of the interest riot. Wilson & only is recoverable as penalty for usury, and consequently in which money is virtually free. Does Mr. e Bank Staples intend his fellow members to believe that Massachusetts, which has no restriction on money, is not as wealthy and prosperous as New York, which has restrictions; that California is not as prosperous as Connecticut; that Maine is not as prosperous as Delaware, and coming to the South that Georgia is not as prosperous as North Carolina? He tells you that "the great and prosper-ous State of Pennsylvania only ale manows 6 per cent," but he forgets to ell you that the penalty for charg-ng higher rates is the loss, not of the orincipal, nor even of the interest, out only of the excess of interest be-and the legal rate. He says that there are only two States in the EL. nion which allow 12 per cent, and seven which allow 10 per cent, and two at 8 per cent," and so on, but not ng my once in his whole speech does he tell you that there are only four States in AYS. e whole Union which have any law forfeiting the principal, and in not one of these four and in fact no EL, where in the civilized world is there as stringent a bill as the one just now arc, engineered by Mr. Staples in our Legislature. Of the eleven free money States he says that "Georgia is the most prosperous." Don't you think that Massachusets, Califor- \mathbf{E} . and nia and Maine (free money States) are more shining examples of prosperity than Georgia? The argument he VTS. uses against the prosperity of the free money State of Georgia is an extract h the from a newspaper published in that or, ury. State, the editor of which states 'that the repeal of the usury law has done more harm in Georgia than any act which has passed, except the incorporation of the mon-AND strous homestead exemption in the Constitution." Are the members of our Legislature prepared to endorse the homestead exemption as "monstrous," if not, then endorsing his views on that point why endorse him on the usury question, which is a matter that newspaper men generally are not capable of giving an opinion on. I would like to see the State, either Georgia or any other in value during the past two years since our great financial panic, whether North or South, in restricted N. Y., or unrestricted Mass.; but how can Mr. Staples ascribe the deprecia-tion in stocks to the abolition of the I defy him to do, that there has been more depression in Georgia than in in which stocks have not depreciated sury laws, except he can show, what North Carolina, (has the Georgia Road stock declined anything like as much as our North Carolina Rail-road stock?) or in Massachusetts or alifornia more than in New York. Mr. Staples goes on at some length to compare Georgia, an unrestricted State, with New York a restricted one; is this candid in the gentleman? or does he consider his fellow members in the Legislature so ignorant as not to recollect that Georgia has just come out, not only from an exhaustive four out, not only from an exhaustive four years war, in which her citizens lost, many of them, both their property and their lives, and from what was probably still more exhaustive, a long term since that of carpet-bag rule and ruin; and still Mr. Staples compares that State with the State of New York, which has fattened on the plunder of Georgia and other Southern States; he goes on in this way to occupy half a col-

6 per cent. free from all tax.instead of

. In conclusion, I would state one fact which I omitted in the proper place, and that is that the rate of interest all over the State has been gradually getting lower every year since the war as money accumulated, so what reasonable excuse did our Legislature have for making such a revolutionary change? A A I WILMINGTON.

Why will our Merchants and others by our Merchants) have to pay out of the carbage leaves, pitres, soarts, spurious mixed Havaeas, and infe fed rubbles, that they buy from them.

By purchasing their Clears from the North, our Merchants enrich a class, that neither care for our community, and leave none of the more speak with them have.

in the attitude of a compulsory evasion of the law on the one hand, or of bringing bankruptcy and ruin on their customers on the other. What a position in which a few young in-experienced men, who it is to be hoped know more about law than finance, have placed the Legislature of our State! have not the members on in this way to occupy half a column of your paper comparing these two States, instead of taking two of nearly equal advantages, such as comparing Georgia or Texas with North Carolina, and Massachusetts with New York, and California with in this matter rashly and without proper and mature deliberation ig-nored the experience of the whole civilized world? and are they not by their action going back to the cus-toms of the dark ages, when all the other States in our Union, and may induce them to modify the bill before it is too late. He says "what prospect is there of developing * Connecticut. He goes on to pass a high panegyric on "the splendid financial conditon and unexampled" prosperity of England," stating that she stands on a sound and sure basis, foreign countries as they become enlightened, are adopting a contrary policy. For the first time in the hisunshaken by panies, firm, solid and secure, a living and perpetual con-demnation of that policy which tory of any legislative body of this state, or probably any other, the members instead of trying by every would place the value of money upon the same footing * * as wheat and coin," etc. This sounds means in their power to get informa tion on the question at issue, and what effect it would be likely to have on the State, would not even listen very well for a buncombe speech, but it displays the great-est ignorance of the facts, as in England the usury laws have to the deputations of prominent mer-chants from different places who had gone there to try and convince them of the impolicy of their course, but actually made use of that legacy of been constantly undergoing a modi-fying process till about twenty years ago, when they were totally abolished, leaving money there just where Mr. Staples says it did not leave it, on the our enemies, "the previous question," to push the bill through for fear some of its friends might possibly become more enlightened and change their same footing as wheat and corn or any other commodity. He refers in glowing language to "the barren fields, yast mineral resources, mines of gold and copper, and vast water powers undeveloped," which he seems to think is altogether owing to the want of a stronger usury law than we have had, but if he studies he history of his own country he will find that it was a policy the directly opposite—a policy of almost free money, which was adopted and is still in force in the great Western States for the purpose of drawing in and encouraging the flow of capital from the Eastern States where money was abundant, whereby the resource of these States have been developed to such an extent that they now rank amongst the most prosperous in the Consumptives, Take Notice—Every moment of delay makes your care more hopeless, and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure for consumption, far exceeds all that can be brought to support the prejensious of any otherimedicine. See Dr. Schenck's Almanac, confaining the certificates of many persons of the highest respectability, who have been restored to health, after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many, as these evidences will show; but the cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr. Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these medicines, according to directions, Dr. Schenck certifies that most any case of Consumption may be cured.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch Sts. Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. Union; and just here let me ask Mr. Staples how he can expect Northern men to send money down here to assist in developing our State to loan it out at 6 to 8 per cent., when the parties can get the same rate of interest at home on much better security than people here have it in their power to offer; if that capital is wanted here, must not some inducement in the shape of a higher rate of interest be held out? He says that the average rate of interest in New York upon good collaterals ranges from 3 to 5 per cent.; in this he falls into the common error of supposing that the quotations of money (sent us daily by telegraph) in the New York market are based on regular loans or discounts of commercial paper, which R. P. HOWELL, is quite a mistake, as they are based on call loans made by the banks and posits which they are afraid to put into regular time loans, which they are compelled consequently to loan out on call at any rate they can get for it, subject to the requirements of their business rather than keep the money idle in their vaults; these loans the borrower may be called on to pay at any moment without notice by the lender, and I know that any bank in North Carolina would be glad to loan out and make 3 to 5 per cent. interest in the same way on the money which, for prudential reasons, to meet wants of depositors, they UST RECEIVED.

have charged the "60 per cent." per annum, but still Mr. Staples has no word of praise for our banks except calling them "giant monopolies," which "must be broken down, because, forsooth, they charge rates enough for money to declare an average dividend of 10 per cent. per annum on their capital, which was not thought too much to make by the old banks for their stockholders before the war, and which is less than the average now declared by the banks of New York. By encouraging Home Manufactures, our Merchants will see our Caur Fuctories (instead of being mere bar e-qu's of Factories of modest appearance) larged in size, flourishing in plenty of wook, with twenty or thirty Cigar makers constantly making up stock for home consumption. Those men that our Manufacturers would employ would spend from three to four hundred dollars weekly, thereby benefitting the community at large and keeping the money where it ought to be at home. Mr. Staples has not informed the people in his speech how the mercantile community can manage without banks or banking facilities; he don't show the people how they are to pay up the four or five million dollars in which they are now in-this usury bill; he makes no provis-ion for building up; all he seems to desire is to "break down by passing a law that banks must not charge more than 8 per cent.," when if he had properly informed himself on the subject he would have ascertained that no bank in the State, with probthan 8 per cent. on its capital, so that there is no alternative now left to the banks but to either evade the law or wind up their affairs and go out of existence. If the latter step were taken it would bring wide-spread ruin over all the mercantile commu-

RICHMOND, VA., February 25th, 1875.

The Guanahani Guano Company has seen fit to publish a card to the effect that our "Cat Island Guano" is of an inferior quality to their importations, and had been rejected by them. From the reputation of the signers of that card, we presume they did not know that this statement was false. We propose to prove to the satisfaction of that Company and of the public the following facts, viz:

1st. That their agent at the Islands attempted (AND FAILED) to get control of deposits of Guano that were secured by a member of our firm who is now at the Islands.

2d. That our Cat Island Guano, according to the analysis of Professor White, of the University of Georgia, (who snalyzed for the Guanahani Company,) is at least the equal of the Guano imported and sold by the Guanahani Company last spring in the cotton sections of Virginia and North Carolina.

Our Guano shall stand or fall by the crucial test of the analytical chemist, and not by cards put out on the eve of the planting season. We will have each cargo analyzed before its receives our brand, or is offered the public, and we will publish the report of the chemist, We invite the Guanahani Company to publish the analyzes of each of the various lots offered or sold by them last spring, that the public may decide.

We have been enabled to avoid the mistakes that the inexperience of each of the various lots offered or sold by them, and with one of our firm on the Island, and one of the most experienced Guano men in the country as our General Agent, we are satisfied we can beat them in quality and price. We challenge them to meet us in the laboratory or on the plantation; and until they can compete with us successfully in these tests, their paper attacks will not hurt the best natural Guano (except Peruvian) yet offered to the public.

They write about "their standard!" Will they publish it? Why did they publish a standard last year, and withdraw it? We have taken proper steps in the Courts to protect ourselves from any injury arising f is no new or untried manure. It has been before the public for upwards of ten years, during which time it has been steadily growing in reputation, until it is now universally recognized as one of the most uniformly reliable concentrated fertilizers in the market. It is manufactured from the best and purest raw materials, every one of which is subjected to chemical analysis before being used. The purity of the fertilizer is thus assured. In addition to this, every step of its manufacture is conducted under the strictest chemical supervision, so that farmers are thus guarded at every point from any danger of using an inferior article. FROM WASHINGTON. Lawrence and Sheridan Sworn In-Appropriation Bill Passed--Other Proceedings--The Grand Finale, WASHINGTON, March 4 .- In the House Lawrence, who contested the seat of Sypher, and Sheridan who contested the seat of Pinchback, as Congressman at large, was sworn in.

The bill regulating the appearance and compensation of agents and attorneys prosecuting claims before Congress, passed.

The Senate amendments to the bounty bill were non-concurred in. The conference committee asked that the army appropriation bill as reported from the conference committee be passed.

In the Senate the conference committee made a report on the post office bill with an amendment directing that the telegraph companies take down the poles and reach the Capitol by underground cables; passed.

The Judiciary Commttee reported favorably on removing the disabili-ties of Generals L. Hawkins and S. D. Lee and adversely on Raphael Semmes. The Committee claimed that Semmes had been cruel to American seamen in the Indian Ocean.

The amendment to the appropria tion bill, giving three hundred and forty thousand dollars to anti bellum mail contractors, was ruled out of order. The amendment increasing the appropriation for the Tennessee River to five hundred and sixty thousand dollars, was adopted. The bill appropriating money for awards of the Southern Claims Commission, after striking out nine cases, involving fifty-seven thousand dol-lars, passed. This carries the bill back to the House.

Bill to pay awards for quartermaster and commissary stores taken during the war was tabled. The House took a recess from 8 to 9 o'clock. SENATE.-The bill for the improvement of the mouth of the Missisippi river has been accepted by the Committee of Conference as an amend-ment to the River and Harbor Bill. The report of the Committee Conference on bounty was laid on the table and the bill is lost.

IMPORTED ONLY BY THE GUANAHANI GUANO COMPANY,

PETERSBURG, VA.

In offering this FERTILIZER to the Agricultural Community a Second Season we do so with the utmost confidence, feeling satisfied that the high opinion, we formed, an expressed last season based on its Chemical Constituents, have been most satisfactoril borne out by the test, by which all Fertilizers must be judged, that of the Plantation. Last season, owing to the lateness at which we commenced importing, we were force to put our Guano on the market at once, but now having continued our importation during the summer and fall, and having large and well ventilated Warehouses in ticky of Petersburg and at City Point, we are enabled to put our Guano on the market in a sondition as to dryness and freedom from lumps, equal to any Manufactured Ferilizer.

We solicit a careful perusal of our Circular containing the certificates sent us, and which can be had on application at this OFFICE, or from any of our AGEN PS. Having nothing to conceal, we made no innovation on established usage, by publishing those letters received unfavorable to our Guano, but careful inquiry in many cases proves that the cause of its failure was not owing to any fault in the Guano, but to those far beyond our control. We have frequently heard the same complaints of its kindred Fertilezer, Peruvion Guano, but the concurrent testimony of well known Farmers and Planters from Maryland to the extreme Western countles of North Carolina, justify us in claiming place for our Fertilizer Superior to many, and such no NONE.

We confidently expect the continued patronage of the Agricultural Community and no exertion will be spared on our part to make
